

Phil 300: Ethics

Fall 2022

T/Th 9:35am-11:15am SWEN 105

Instructor: Nathaniel Greely Email: ngreely@callutheran.edu Office Hours: 11:20am-12:20pm

Course Description:

This course is an introduction to ethical theory. We will examine the most prominent accounts of what makes something morally right or wrong. These accounts include Utilitarianism, Deontology, Social Contract Theory, Divine Command Theory, Cultural Relativism, Ethical Egoism, Care Ethics, and Virtue Ethics. We will also cover prominent accounts of justice by Nozick, Rawls, and Nussbaum. Our approach will be analytic, meaning that arguments for and against each theory will be constructed and then evaluated for internal consistency and consistency with empirical data. No previous knowledge of philosophy, logic, or ethics is required or assumed, though contributions from students with previous training in various disciplines is welcome.

Learning Outcomes:

Students should be able to demonstrate their understanding of ethical theory by engaging in discussions, completing written exams, and writing and revising an original essay that argues for a specific thesis related to ethical theory.

Textbook:

The text for this course is The Elements of Moral Philosophy by James Rachels, 9th Edition. The text is available in the bookstore and is widely available in other venues. Earlier editions are acceptable (and cheaper), but you must obtain some version of the text. Additional readings will be posted to Blackboard.

Assessments:

The assessments in this course are largely designed to keep you engaged with the lectures, readings, discussions, and other students in the course. Your grades for discussion, quizzes, essay proposal, and peer review total 60% of your grade. It should be easy to do well on these components if you stay engaged. The take-home midterm and final essay will be graded on quality, and to get top marks on these components you will be required to demonstrate understanding of the material (for the midterm) and some original philosophical insight (for the final essay). Your grade in the course will be composed of the following:

Attendance and Participation – 15%

Lecture attendance is required. In lecture I will not only present and explain the readings, but we will engage in active learning projects. Being in class is essential to these activities. Exceptions will only be made with a documented excuse, such as a doctor's note. You may miss up to three lectures without an excuse and still receive full marks for attendance.

Quizzes – 15%

At the end of each two-week unit, we will devote one class period to review, followed by a short quiz on that unit. The goal of the quizzes is to assess whether students are keeping up with reading and lectures. They are designed to be quite easy for students who do so.

Midterm – 15%

The midterm take place in class Oct. 11. It will consist of two short essays (1-2 pages each). Students will be provided four essay prompts ahead of time and may choose to write on any two of them. The essay prompts will be on topics from units 1-3. The short essays should demonstrate understanding of the claims and arguments from the readings and lectures on the given topic. The essay prompts will be provided Oct. 4 and students will have until the day of the exam to craft a response to the two they choose. The midterm will be taken in class with no access to notes.

Research Proposal – 10%

Students will give a five-to-ten-minute presentation in front of the class in which they explain the thesis they plan to argue for in their essay and outline the argumentative strategy they will employ. This will be followed by a five-minute question and answer session. Your thesis and arguments may change over the course of composing the draft and revising it into a final paper. This assignment is designed to get you thinking about your essay early-on and receive feedback on how it may be improved. Students are free to choose any topic that interests them. Specific prompts will also be provided as models for the appropriate scope of the essay, and students may choose to write on those prompts if they wish. Prompts will be provided Oct. 11 after the midterm. Research proposals presentations will be in-class Oct. 27, Nov. 1, and Nov. 3.

Essay draft – 15%

One of the most important parts of writing an essay is revision. Students will be required to turn in a rough draft of their essay, due Nov. 17. The essay should present and develop an original thesis on one of the topics of the course. Prompts will be provided, but students are welcome to develop their own essay topics. The essay should be narrowly focused on a very specific claim, likely a single premise in an argument presented in a lecture or reading. Provide an original argument for your view about that claim and consider objections to your argument. The essay should be 5 pages (1250 words), give or take a page. It should be easy to get full points for your draft so long as it reflects an honest effort to make a cogent argument.

Final Essay – 15%

Students will revise their essay, taking into account the comments they receive. You are almost certainly expected to make significant changes to your essay in order to get top marks. The final draft will be graded on quality, not merely on effort. The final essay will be due Dec. 8.

Final Exam – 15%

The final exam will be similar in format to the midterm exam. It will consist of three short essays (1-2 pages each). Students will be provided six essay prompts ahead of time and may choose to write on any two of them. The essay prompts will be on topics from units 4-6. The short essays should demonstrate understanding of the claims and arguments from the readings and lectures on the given topic. The essay prompts will be provided Dec. 6. We will then devote two class sessions to review. The final exam takes place on 12/13 10:30m-12:30pm.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS FOR BLACKBOARD

Even though this is an on-ground, on-campus, face-to-face, in-person class, some components of your class could be placed on Blackboard (e.g., syllabus).

Hardware & Software

| | | |
|------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|
| | Windows | Mac OS X |
| Operating System | Windows 10 | OS X 10.12 or later version |
| Java | Most recent version | Most recent version |

Browser

Your browser must always be up to date. We recommend Firefox and Chrome for all Blackboard functions. If you are experiencing problems on another browser, please switch to Firefox or Chrome. To check your browser and system compatibility with Blackboard, please use the Blackboard Browser Checker below to view your functionality. Please note that checkmarks on all functions does not guarantee a seamless experience.

Internet

Bandwidth: recommended requirement is 5 Mbps per device or higher; anything less will cause potential issues.

Note: Bandwidth is affected by distance from the wireless router or access point, use of Netflix video streaming and number of users on the wireless network.

Streaming services: Sites or applications that use the internet like YouTube, Netflix, P2P, Spotify, or Pandora must be closed before starting a Zoom session.

Connection: You must be connected to the internet via an ethernet cable or Wi-Fi. Hotspots do not have the bandwidth to handle Zoom sessions.

Wi-Fi: Be as close to the router access point as possible to get the best connection. Be aware that locations with free Wi-Fi, i.e. Starbucks or Barnes & Noble, cannot provide enough bandwidth for Zoom sessions and should not be used.

Diversity and Inclusion:

Individuals of all ages, backgrounds, beliefs, ethnicities, genders (and identities & expressions thereof), national origins, religious affiliations, sexual orientations, ability - and other visible and non-visible differences are welcome in this course. All members of this class are expected to contribute to a respectful, welcoming and inclusive environment for every other member of the class. We will be discussing controversial topics in this class and students may confront views that they find wrong or even reprehensible. Where possible I would like to confront those views with reasoned arguments. If you find that a particular reading or assignment is so emotionally charged that it interferes with your ability to complete it, send me an email and we'll see if there is a solution that we can all be happy with.

Academic Accommodation:

If you require any form of accommodation on the grounds of disability, please visit this link: <https://www.callutheran.edu/students/disability-services/register.html> well in advance so that you can submit the necessary documents.
